

Name _____

Part III

Written Report:

Using the information you have learned about your state, work with your group to write a report. Your report will have an introduction, body, and conclusion.

Working cooperatively with your team, decide which member of the team will complete each part of the written essay. Help your team members with content, sentence structure, organization, and overall hints to improve the quality of the writing.

Introduction (General)

- Region assigned
- States in the region
- Landmarks
- Famous People
- Time Zones

Historical Background (More specific)

- First people
- Settlers
- Admission to the Union
- Economy

Historical Landmarks/Sites/Points of Interest

- Landmarks
- Historical Sites
- Famous points of interest

• Report 1 Write a report on historical sites and background of your Region. Include where the sites are located. Then choose three sites and plan a field trip. Why did you choose this site? What does it offer people who visit this site? What can you learn?

Report 2 - Write a report on the geographical feature of this region and how these features helped shape the economy of the region and /or various states. Include rivers valleys, mountain ranges, climate, lakes etc.

Report 3 - Write a report on the various cultural sites this region has to offer. List a few from each state, tell their importance, and then pick three and plan a field trip. Why did you pick the site? What does it offer people visiting it? What can you learn?

Report 4- Write a report listing and explaining the various jobs that most people have in your region. Tell where most of these jobs are located. Then plan a trip to three job sites. Explain who you would see. What you would see (equipment, workers etc.) What types of activities would be going on in the work force.

Conclusion: Connect all your work. Persuade the listener that your region has the most educational and fun places to visit. Remember make it interesting, your principal just may let you take a road trip.